

newsletter • spring • 2006

www.bodydataspace.net

This early spring 2006 newsletter includes a reminder about our new website above where you will find details on 'Open in Process' nights at bodydataspace studio as part of NODE.London and be able to view clips from the latest skintouchfeel audio visual set.

15th Dec 2005 > bodydataspace.net > WEBSITE LAUNCHED

The b>d>s website gives you all the chance to keep up to date with the latest news of our work, more background and information on the team and a Folio of all our projects past and current.

If you haven't had the chance to familiarise yourself with the new virtual space, pop along and sign up for our newsletter and to receive notifications of future events.

Also please check out digital cultures project in Folio section of the site for the new edit of the b>d>s audio visual set, 'skintouchfeel', (version 1.3) presented at the launch night of Radiator Festival / Digital Cultures Lab at Powerhouse, Nottingham in December 2005.

Monday 6th and Monday 13th March 2006 > b>d>s Open in Process events in NODE.London

NODE.London [Networked, Open, Distributed, Events. London] is a month long season of media arts projects across London in March 2006.

bodydataspace host two evenings of network and exchange examining the extending cross overs between body reactive interfaces, large screen displays and public/performative interventions.

These events are aimed at creating exchange, debate and vision-sharing between movement and digital artists and practitioners. The focus will be on a deeper consideration of the attributes and creativity of the human body itself. Places are limited to 40 so please email to reserve a place leanne@bodydataspace.net

<http://www.nodel.org/events.php?ID=83>

We encourage you to visit the site of this exciting month long media arts festival @ <http://nodel.org>
